Find Bullet Under Scalp

ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)— Ten days ago eight-year-old Bruce Axberg toppled off his bicycle near his home, after he felt "something like a stone" strike his forehead. He went home and his mother, Mrs. Richard Axberg, dressed the wound, but after Bruce suffered persistent headaches his mother took him to the Swedish-American hospital for examination. Yesterday a surgeon found a spent slug of a .22 caliber bullet under the scalp a few inches back of the forehead. After removing the slug he said the boy's condition was good.

Police investigated the shooting.

ELECT A DEMOCRATIC

STATE LEGISLATURE

ONE CLEAR

ISSUE

IN THE MISSOURI ELECTION NOVEMBER 5th

Shall a country newspaper editor, with years of legislative experience and trained along the lines of common sense and small town needs, cast the vote of the majority of Missourians in the United States Senate during the next six yearsor shall a big city corporation lawyer trained and schooled along the lines of big business and city politics, cast that vote?

The Country Editor Is

FRANK P. BRIGGS

The Democratic Nominee ON HIS RECORD

He Merits Your Support

During the last two years the Democratic State Administration, under the able leadership of Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, has been so commendable that the opposition party has searched in vain for some grounds upon which to attack it. Finding none, it could neither condemn it in its state platform or in the state campaign which has followed. By its very silence, it has paid tribute to the excellence of the State Administration now in power.

IT'S A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

And Governor Donnelly and his associates also have a praiseworthy program for a bigger and better Missouri. THEY MUST, HOWEVER, HAVE A DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATURE TO MAKE IT A REALITY.

In the last Republican-controlled State Legislature the Governor found it extremely difficult to enact into law a constructive, liberal and economical program. The Republicans wilfully and for petty partisan purposes sabotaged virtually his every effort.

THE REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE RECORD

That's but a part of the Republican legislative record. It directed the longest and most costly session in our history ... it denied returning veterans legislative benefits they requested and merited . . . it sought to cripple our state park system...it refused adequate funds for the dependent children and deserving poor ... it created confusion in government by blocking gubernatorial appointments...it attempted to usurp both the power and the patronage of the governor . . . it delayed revision of state laws for countless months...it appropriated millions of dollars more money than any previous legislature.

VOTERS OF MISSOURI

It's time to repudiate such incompetence and extravagance at the ballot box. On November 5th VOTE FOR DEMO-CRATIC CANDIDATES FOR THE STATE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Let's give our Splendid Democratic State Administration a DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATURE which will work with it for a Greater, More Progressive and Prosperous Missouri.

KEEP CONGRESS DEMOCRATIC

The next Congress should be a Democratic Congress, one thoroughly in sympathy with the peace program and domestic policies of the National Administration. We should not have a President pulling one way and a Congress the other way.

A vote for TOM B. HEMBREE on November 5th will be a vote for a lasting peace throughout the world as well as for a brighter and fuller life here at home.

move furniture until he was exhausted. The appearance of the rooms had been changed, but there was, so far as she could see, no added significance to any

Eventually she found an explanation of her feeling of dissatisfaction with the house. There was only one fault with it: it was completed. There had been no growth, no development, no gradual improvement; from the day she and Bart took possession, it had been a finished thing, as fine as she could ever make it. That house was not a part of her as her mother's house was a part of her mother-and it never could be. "I did twenty years work in a month," she thought, "and now there's nothing for me to do."

THERE were times as the slow months of her pregnancy crawled by that Gayle thought she ought to be ashamed of herself. mate of Orange, Tex., is on a 60 think there were a dozen sexes She had everything in the world to make any woman happy: a Can't you hear them in the Bowl? handsome, devoted husband and I can't wait. Bart's opinion. He gave it readily enough, but once given, he was apparently done. "They all say downtown," he said, "it's a false alarm. It'll blow over if Roosevelt will keep his trap shut. Hitler's bluffing. What would he want to go to war for?"

WHEN spring came, her spirits rose. She spent hours every fair day in the garden with Tom. The garden at least wasn't something finished, complete - and, thank heaven, it never would be. Every spring it would be a new miracle, and there were always new flowers to be planted, new arrangements and experiments to be tried.

She was becoming very large. "I'm sure it's a boy," she told Bart. "No girl could kick as hard as that little imp does."

Bart laughed gleefully. "You bet it's a boy. Let's see; this is 1939. Say he enters Yale at eighteen. That'll be 1957. Think of it, he'll be the class of 1961. Lord, Gayle, it doesn't seem as if there could ever be a class of 1961, does it? I'll put up goal posts down at the end of the garden, and I'll bet I make a good drop kicker out of him before he's twelve." He leaned back in his chair, his black eyes dreamy, his lips parted in a smile. "James Kent Bartlett, '61.

WINGS OF TOMORROW: The Story of Aviation

Aviation editor, Cleveland Press; former Army pilot (Written for NEA Service)

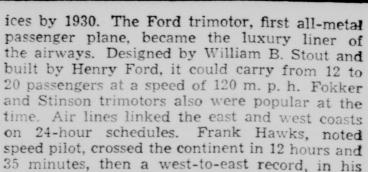

BY CHARLES TRACY

(1) Aviation reached one of its turning points with Lindbergh's sensational flight to Paris. New interest and new capital went into the aircraft industry. In Spain the following year, Juan de la Cierva test-hopped a new-type plane, the autogyro. Its rotating wings made it stall-proof and permitted it to descend almost vertically. A conventional engine and propeller powered it, but, contrary to popular belief. the rotors were not power-driven, although there was a clutch arrangement to start them turning prior to take-off.

(2) Fritz von Opel, German auto manufacturer who had been experimenting with rocketpowered cars, in 1929 applied similar propulsion ideas to a glider-type plane. He flew for two minutes near Frankfurt, Germany, becoming the first man to harness rocket propulsion for flight. Explosive powder was used in von Opel's rockets, greatly limiting the duration of flight. His plane's speed was no greater than that of the day's average planes.

(3) Commercial air lines had secured air mail contracts and were expanding passenger serv-famous Travelair Mystery Ship.

Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brien remained aloft over St. Louis in 1929 for 26 days, 23 hours, and 28 minutes in a Curtiss Robin monoplane. They refueled and changed spark plugs and engine oil in full flight. Long-distance flights focused wide attention on aviation. Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, interned by the Japanese while on a world flight, bargained with their captors and finally were permitted to take off in their single-engine Bellanca for a nonstop trans-Pacific flight. They dropped their landing-gear, to reduce drag on the 4860-mile trip. They were aloft 41 hours and 13 minutes. (TOMORROW: Air Travel Comes of Age.)
